

Artificial Intelligence is the field of creating machines that can perform tasks requiring human intelligence.

Machine Learning is a subset of Artificial Intelligence that enables systems to learn from data.

Deep Learning is a subset of Machine Learning that uses neural networks with multiple layers.